

Yankee Steve's Almanac
for the Week of January 27, 2009

Deceit

Obama continues to show that he has a penchant for stretching the truth, or if need be, he can invent stories.

Recently the veteran newsman and political analyst Bob Grant revealed that the newly sworn in president told a gathering of people that his mother and father met while marching at Selma. Or did they meet in Hawaii or Kenya?

Grant wondered why left-wing politicians need to tell stories or embellish the truth. He felt that Hillary Clinton would have won the nomination of her party had she not lied about being shot at in Bosnia.

Grant confirmed what I have said about Joe Biden, i.e., that when he gets his mouth going, he is dangerous in public.

Hypocrisy

Liberals professing to believe in global warming turned out in force on inauguration day in order to see Obama.

No less than 600 private jets, each with its own carbon footprint, lined up side-by-side on runways in the Washington area.

Democrats must not be heeding their own warning, or they are proving what we have suspected, they really do not believe in global warming. It is a gimmick through which they can promote Marxism, or a means by which institutions can obtain grant monies. Presently America wastes FIVE BILLION dollars a year on climate change studies.

Have we gone mad?

Steve Cakouros
oldlineconservative.com