

Yankee Steve's Column

for the Week of April 23, 2009

Dear Valued Reader,

As promised I now present my readers with a multi-part series about Communism among Blacks, Jews, and Anglo-Saxons in America.

Some opening remarks are in order.

By the midterm of Barack Obama's presidency, people will no longer tip-toe around him. Up until now people have been somewhat reluctant to accuse Obama of incompetence for fear of sounding like a member of the Ku Klux Klan, or to take it down a notch, for fear of sounding like some one who thinks that all blacks are incompetent.

However, and sooner rather than later, Obama will no longer be thought of as a black man. In one sense that will be an accomplishment. One philosopher said that an African-America was distressed over his situation because he knew that if Jesus Christ walked into a room wearing black skin that most Americans would call out, "Hey, there is a black man" and only later would they say, "He is Jesus Christ." This philosopher suggested that as long as that is true the black man will not be happy in America.

A tsunami of criticism will some day wash over Obama, and it will be apparent to all concerned that it is not racially motivated. America is being educated. Americans are beginning to discover that we are not dealing with a black man, but with a white liberal, a Socialist.

A crop of freshly minted conservatives will again appear. They will not care a hoot for Obama's skin color. They will demand answers. They will want to know why the Obama administration was willing to give Socialism another chance when in the past it always failed.

Need I say it; it will get hot in the kitchen!

All that town hall stuff which Obama's handlers use in order to give the impression that he wants to take his message to the people, as if the people could determine policy, will come to an abrupt halt. People will no longer bother to attend because they will have realized that Obama is wooden. He is your typical Harvard Socialist. The people are thought of as sheep. You never consult them; you inform them. What can Joe the plumber say that a Harvard man needs to hear?

Out of work and broke, attendees at Obama's town hall meetings, will want to know why he ignored the past and why he chose to rely on economic policies that have never worked, not here, not anywhere. This is in Obama's future because his economic policies cannot succeed. The rate of failure of Socialism stands at one hundred percent.

Now that word Socialist is a word Obama would like to avoid. He would sooner have you employ the “N” word than call him the “S” word. Using the “N” word would only mean that you are stupid. But if you use the “S” word it means that you are smart and that you may know that the “S” word is connected to the “C” word. Obama is well aware that Socialism among the able-minded is a synonym for Communist. Obama knows that people believe that if it walks and talks like a duck then it must be a (?).

And so we come to our series on the way that Socialism found a home among blacks, Jews, and Anglo-Saxons. But why do we do this? We do this because Socialism is and always has been the breeding ground for secularism. Humanists and secularists would like us to think that the growth of Humanism is not traceable to Marxist Socialism. How wrong they are!

This means that those who resist Socialism will also resist secularism. And it means that those who resist secularism will help to save our civilization which is built on Christian principles.

Poet T. S. Eliot [1888-1965] wrote about the secular man’s world and why we should avoid it at all costs.

“The world is trying the experiment of attempting to form a civilized but non-Christian mentality. The experiment will fail; but we must be very patient in awaiting its collapse; meanwhile redeeming the time so that the Faith may be preserved alive in the dark ages before us; to renew and rebuild civilization and save the world from suicide.”

As long as there are Socialists the future will be dark and foreboding. Our culture may sink beneath the ocean. Atlantis will be lost. In the future antiquarians will search for our civilization and culture, and not find it.

Russian Nobel Laureate Alexander Solzhenitsyn [1918-2008] said,

The strength or weakness of a society depends more on the level of its spiritual life than on its level of industrialization. Neither a market economy nor even general abundance constitutes the crowning achievement of human life. If a nation's spiritual energies have been exhausted, it will not be saved from collapse by the most perfect government structure or by any industrial development. A tree with a rotten core cannot stand.

More columns will follow this introduction.

Ever yours,
