

Yankee Steve's Column
for the Week of December 10, 2009

If Santa Was Gay

Just think of what it would be like if Santa Claus was gay.

If Santa was gay he would not have to change the way he dresses. More often than not homosexuals are exhibitionists. If a red suit doesn't get you noticed nothing will.

If Santa was gay he might be a Sarah Palin basher but not necessarily. You may remember Palin's interview with Katie Couric of CBS. Instead of following a lead from Rep. Michelle Bachman [R-MN] who along with Alan Keyes has identified homosexuals as dysfunctional hedonists, she tried to give the impression that she was a live-and-let-live person.

This is often happens when to people running for office. They are fully aware of the fact that gays practice block voting. So-called gay "rights" has become a litmus test for candidates. This is why they voted en masse for Barack Obama. He is on their side even if he is against gay marriage. Can you picture the day when Obama has a banquet in honor of gays? That day is not far off.

It will happen in the next two years or even sooner. Obama is not a man of character but he has managed to payback many Liberals who got him elected, even though these same paybacks are proof that he is fiscally irresponsible. Gays have become impatient with Obama but they will meet with the president in the Rose Garden soon enough.

Many who should know better have been affected by the way gays portray themselves as a persecuted minority. During the regrettable Palin/Couric interview, my mind went back to the time when Billy Graham refused to speak out against homosexuality, and I might add abortion-on-demand. Maybe Dr. Graham thinks if you make nice with people, and do not tell them that they are sinners, they will want the gospel. Is that what the apostles did? And did not our Savior denounce the Pharisees as a class of sinners?

Right about that time I heard Graham preach a sermon on Sodom and Gomorrah.

The most famous evangelist of our times went on about sinful "pleasure" seekers (in other words hedonists) but he would not use the word homosexual or call sodomy a sin even though he was preaching on Sodom and Gomorrah, the city that paid dearly for its aberrant behavior. I sat there amazed. That is like a person discussing Egypt and not mentioning the pharaohs, pyramids, or the exodus. Another Billy, Billy Sunday, was turning over in his grave.

In her clash with gays, singer Anita Bryant [1940- ] needed the support of Billy Graham but alas he was no where to be found. At that time Graham was the voice of Christianity in America and had he been willing to expose the gay community for what it was attempting to do, gays would have gone back in the closet. Now however the possibility of a gay Santa is not unthinkable.

If Graham had shown some courage and opposed gay activists they would not have been able to influence the teachers' unions where they now have a voice and a vote, which means of course that mentally unfit people have been given access to our children.

This is important because once empowered, gays have moved like a pack of wolves against any and all who stand to oppose them. Stand against them in some parents/teachers meeting and you will be shown the nearest exit.

Right now gays own Hollywood which means that if you want to work in Tinsel Town you could conceivably be a fiscal conservative like actor Jon Voight, but you had better not say anything against homosexuality. Gays took Mel Gibson aside and told him a thing or two. Suddenly all that machismo he displayed in the movies was smothered by a wet blanket. I am sure that I don't have to tell you that gay activists murdered the career of Anita Bryant.

This means that if Santa was gay he would be able to find work because gays always hang together. They wrote the book on nepotism. Certainly television's National Broadcasting Association (NBC) would make room for the dashing man in the flaming red suit. Santa could fly right over to NBC where the powers that be have been donning their gay apparel for some time now. NBC put the "homo" in homo sapien.

NBC follows the pattern laid out for it by the ancients who in their writings were almost flippant when it comes to the subject of homosexuality. Christian writers on the other hand spoke of it as if it were something that should be whispered about, something so shameful that it should not be mentioned. That explains why Jesus did not talk of it, and why it is not mentioned often in the New Testament.

Unless I am mistaken NBC brings up the subject of homosexuality more than all the other major networks combined. The Jay Leno show goes out of its way to cater to the gay crowd, and if it not, it supposed that Leno will be called into the boss's office.

NBC talk show host Ellen DeGeneres has for some time now been flaunting her lesbian lifestyle. One series, "Will and Grace," which aired during primetime on NBC, tried to give the impression that the gay lifestyle is just like any other, which meant that if you don't tolerate gays you are a misanthrope. If we add in Oprah Winfrey and the way she has fallen all over the gay community in order to prop up her sagging ratings we get the picture of a network that lacks both decency and common sense.

I no longer have young children at home, but if I did I would not allow them to watch NBC. Maybe we should start a boycott campaign against NBC. NBC wants to be known as the Green network. In reality it is the gay station. I think we should award NBC the Triple Crown: Green, Grimy, and Gay.

What NBC is trying to do is simple enough to understand. Present the subject of homosexuality favorably enough times and over time it will become acceptable. In other words they are trying to make us like Europe, but we are not Europeans, we are Americans.

Pederasty

If Santa was gay he would love his job since it would bring him into close contact with children. That would not be good because Plato said that every city state and nation that allowed pedophiles free reign sank into ruin. Plato saw a connection.

The original word used in classical times for homosexuality was pederasty. From then to the present there has never been a successful attempt on the part of anyone to demonstrate that homosexuality and pedophilia are not two sides of the same coin.

Goethe [1749-1832] wrote that pederasty goes back to the beginning of time, but so also does parenting. In ancient Athens any individual found in the gymnasium (school for boys only) who was not a parent of one of the children studying there received the sentence of death.

Homosexuals are likely pedophiles. Some are attracted to teenagers and those younger. This is why the Dutch in their madness lowered the age of consent to age 12 so that homosexuals could approach adolescents without fear of prosecution. And this is why NAMBLA [North American Man/Boy Love Association] has lobbied Congress for the same thing. And would you believe it? Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg has taken up their cause, but what else would you expect from a Bill Clinton appointee?

If Santa was a gay guy the meaning of toys would change. Forget about teddy bears and drums. Now it will be things anatomically-correct dolls which allow children to discover what sex is all about even if this discovery comes five or ten years prematurely

Progressives, many of whom are homosexuals, are dominated by one concern more than any other when it comes to children, namely that the young and the impressionable should be knowledgeable about sexual activity, even if the topic is of no import to them at this early stage of their development.

Gays in particular want children to find out as early as possible about what it means to be gay. We know why; they want Americans to think of homosexuality as if it is normal because if that occurs then gays can live with themselves.

One gift from Santa intended for the little ones would be a copy of a book which a first grade teacher read to her students. The book contained the tale of a prince who fell in love with another prince. I am wondering, are we really against book-burning or is just some books? On hearing of this a concerned parent figuratively lit a fire.

As you might have guessed he was shouted down by school officials who turned a deaf ear to his protests. The teacher wasn't wrong; the father was wrong. Homosexuality he was asked to believe is not a sickness, only an alternative lifestyle.

A Gay Santa in Church

If Santa was gay he would not give the Bible as a gift or if he did it would be an edited edition like the Bible Thomas Jefferson sent to the Indians. That “Bible” lacked all references to the miraculous nature of Jesus. He wanted the Indians to follow the Jesus he had devised for his sensibilities. The gays also have their own version of Jesus which means that a gay Santa will not be without a church.

The United Church of Christ [UCC], an anti-authoritarian body with an unimpressive resume, has come out in favor of gay marriage. In doing so it has climbed into bed with the Episcopal Church in America, the Unitarian Church, and believe it or not with many Progressives within the Presbyterian Church USA, the largest Presbyterian group in the United States, a church which supposedly hearkens back to the reformer John Calvin who believed that that homosexual sin was worse than bestiality because it reverses the course of nature.

Thirty-one states, when allowed to vote on gay marriage, have turned same-sex marriage down all of 31 times. This is of no importance to UCC leaders. These misfits would like us to think of them as prophets. In other words they see themselves as ahead of their time. They are so far in advance of the rest of us they are not subject to Holy Scripture. They have progressed beyond the Bible.

The UCC in particular has a doctrine that allows it to dismiss what the Bible or even science has to say about the gay lifestyle. I mention science because it can be shown that gays experience an inordinate amount of diseases that are the direct result of their living habits, like rectal cancer and infectious diseases.

We hear from UCC ministers that “God is still speaking.” In other words the Lord God while leaving the rest of us in the dark has brought the UCC up to date. They must be a highly favored people!

Maybe they feel that way because their leading theologian Reinhold Niebuhr [1892-1871] flaunted his socialism around America. He seems to have anticipated the coming of Obama, another socialist, and if that is the case then maybe these “prophets” have read tomorrow’s newspaper. They see a day coming when homosexuality will no longer repulse the average American.

Homosexuality, condemned by biblical prophets and apostles alike has, we are told, been revisited. What once angered God now meets with His approval. How do we know that? The UCC has told us that this is so; God has spoken to its leaders. I am wondering, will God have to apologize to the people of Sodom on whom He rained down fire and brimstone?

The UCC can pretend that God is still speaking because they have devised a doctrine that permits them to cut-and-paste whenever they read the Bible. They do not believe that the Bible is the Word of God. Instead they believe that it contains the word of God. How convenient!

Find something you like in the Bible and it becomes the word of God. Find something you do not like and it is not the word of God. No wonder Obama, a radical Liberal who was one of only two senators to vote in favor of an act that would allow doctors to do away with children that survived an abortion attempt, chose the ministry of Rev. Jeremiah Wright whose church belongs to the United Church of Christ.

Make no mistake about it, the Bible teaches that homosexuality is a sin [see Genesis 19:5-8, Leviticus 18:22, Romans 1:22-27, 1 Corinthians 6:9-11]. As a matter of fact those who live the homosexual lifestyle are taught in the Bible that homosexuality will be attended by consequences or what the King James Version calls “recompenses.”

Dr. William Shedd of Union Seminary in New York (now a stronghold for gay activists whereas once it was a place where real scholars plied their trade) tells of a celebrated actor walking through a syphilitic ward of a hospital and saying, “God Almighty writes a legible hand.”

Said a Puritan, “If you wear the yoke of sin it will gall your neck; you will pass from the pleasure of sin to the pain of sin.”

Gays Are Not Gay

Warnings given to gays about the reciprocity of sin seem unnoticed in most cases, but you can only be in denial for so long. Gays do their best to practice a kind of self-hypnosis but if you talk with them you will soon realize that something is eating at them. They give out with the idea that they are “gay” but they fool no one, not least themselves. Gays know how sad and melancholy their world really is. Not all gays contract HIV/AIDS, but all suffer from guilt.

We all learned at one time or other that there is no Santa Claus. Gays will have to discover for themselves that there are no gay homosexuals.

This is important because guilt never travels alone; it is accompanied by fear and fear according to the Bible has “torment.”

If the person reading this is bothered by feelings of guilt and its siblings, fear and torment, whether gay or not, there is hope. Change is possible because with God all things are possible.

Hope and change were buzz words used by Obama when he was running for office. They are now laughable. In the Bible the same words have always created a buzz; they hold out the promise of a faithful God who can change the future filling it with hope. Jesus said,

“Come to me all you who labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls, for my yoke is easy and my burden is light.” [Matthew 11:28-30]

Ever yours, Yankee Steve Cakouros oldlineconservative.com