

Yankee Steve's Column

For the Week of September 30, 2010

Wigged Out by Liu

If you were looking for proof that President Barack Obama is a radical leftist you now have it. I place in evidence the way he has tried not once, but twice, to install Goodwin Liu on the United States 9th Circuit Court of Appeals, which is a stepping stone to the Supreme Court, the highest court of appeals in America.

Just the thought of him sitting on that court which decides constitutional matters is enough to make me want to emigrate to Australia, even though the friendly people down under are at this very moment facing horde of locusts.

A locust is more welcome than a liberal like Goodwin Liu. Now I mean to tell you, this guy is looped.

Some of the things Liu is calling for could not only make your hair stand on end; they could alert the deadest follicles!

Liu may be the most radical law professor in America. Liu, born to Taiwanese parents, sits about ten miles to the left of Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, and like all extremists he will resort to deceitful tactics in order to advance his favorite cause, radicalism. One vowel says it all. Just change Liu to "LIE," and you have a picture of the man.

It never pays to liu/lie to a congressional committee. Not everyone in government is stupid.

Liu did his lying in that way which novelist Robert Louis Stevenson is most effective. Stevenson said that the most powerful lies are spoken in silence. What do I mean? While being vetted Liu failed to place in evidence his most controversial documents along with a number of quotes from his speeches.

The Justice Department drew up a long list of Liu's omissions. The man from Berkeley law school failed to supply Justice with 117 documents. These apparently intentional omissions dealt with his most controversial opinions.

Stupid Is What Stupid Does

Senator Dianne Feinstein [D-CA], playing the role of an idiot, is wondering why Liu should be held accountable for a few things he said in speeches. He is she says "such a nice young man." I would like to inform the Senator that being nice does not qualify you for the judiciary.

First of all you must believe that the U.S. Constitution is binding. But Liu comes to us from that school of thought which thinks that you can make the Constitution say whatever you want it should say. One congressman said that as soon as Liu is placed on the 9th Circuit Court he will act as if he never heard of the Constitution.

And second of all you have to fit in with mainstream America. Watchdog scholar Ed Whelan writes, Wonder of wonders, Liu's freewheeling constitutional approach yields a plethora of extreme left-wing results, including his support for the invention of a federal constitutional right to same-sex marriage. Also noteworthy is his denunciation of the traditional principles of "free enterprise," "private ownership of property" and "limited government" as "code words for an ideological agenda hostile to [the] environmental workplace and consumer protections.

Liu wouldn't even fit in with mainland China which has adopted free enterprise to the delight of its citizens! And it gets worse.

Liu wants people like me, whose ancestors were enslaved by Muslims, to pay reparations to blacks even though I have not descended from slave-owning families. And you thought Cap and Trade was all you had to fear.

Apparently Senator Feinstein, who may never have had an original thought, will have to be awakened from her lethargy. She has fallen down on the job. Liu has not only espoused the most far-out radical ideas in some of his speeches, but he has also placed these same ideas in carefully worded documents. Read them Dianne; that is your job; that is what why we pay you.

Case Closed

The President is a radical. If that were not true, he would not stand behind the Liu nomination.

What people have been saying about Obama is after all true.

Watch out America; the President does not like conservatives. If we let him he will smooth talk us out of our liberties. It will happen quietly. Not a shot will be fired. You will wake up one morning only to find that the country belongs to the radicals, the people of the left, the Progressives who want to do our thinking for us.

The liberties of our country, the freedom of our civil Constitution, are worth defending at all hazards; and it is our duty to defend them against all attacks. We have received them as a fair inheritance from our worthy ancestors: they purchased them for us with toil and danger and expense of treasure and blood, and transmitted them to us with care and diligence. It will bring an everlasting mark of infamy on the present generation, enlightened as it is, if we should suffer them to be wrested from us by violence without a struggle, or to be cheated out of them by the artifices of false and designing men. Samuel Adams [1722-1803]

Ever yours,

Yankee Steve Cakouros

oldlineconservative.com